

Chryseobacterium meningosepticum (Flavobacterium meningosepticum)—A Report of Five Cases in a Local Hospital

L C Lim,MBBS*, J A Low,MBBS, MRCP (UK)*, K M Chan,FAMS, M Med (Int Med), DGM (Glas)

Abstract

Chryseobacterium meningosepticum (Flavobacterium meningosepticum) is a known cause of meningitis in premature and newborn infants. Infection due to this organism in adults is uncommon. We report 5 cases of Chryseobacterium meningosepticum in adult patients. Most of these patients were elderly and had underlying co-morbidities.

Ann Acad Med Singapore 1999; 28:858-60

Key words: Meningitis, Nosocomial infection, Organism, Septicaemia

* Medical Officer
Department of Medicine

 Registrar

 Consultant and Head
Department of Geriatric Medicine
Alexandra Hospital

Address for Reprints: Dr Lim Ling Choo, Department of Medicine, Alexandra Hospital, 378 Alexandra Road, Singapore 159964.